

Deiro: Creating one to one time with students.

Strategies

- After direct instruction, be available at a small table that students come to for extra support and help.
- For behavioral problems, pull students to the hallway or quietly talk to them, at eye level, and discuss possible plan of action.
- Small group or one on one work while other students are working independently.

